

STOMACH ULCER AND GALL STONES

After Suffering 25 Years, Completely
Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. EDWARDS

Maplehurst Farm, Hillhurst, P.Q.
"I am 50 years old and about 22
years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach. One doctor said
I had Cancer; another said Ulcer
of the Stomach; another, Gall Stones;
others, Ulcers of the Liver and Inflammation of the Gall Bladder."

"Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montréal.
He said I must go to the hospital,
have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 44 years old. I said 'NO'."

"The 'FRUIT-A-TIVES' found them helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much."

are needed in the room, as well as a drum major, a bugle major and

"The following is the program for the forthcoming celebration, which in addition to the usual songs and drum and bugle calls, will include a Scout Law, exhibition of the Scout Law, exhibits of the Scouts' work in the various fields of activity, and a Scout campfire songs chorus."

"Before the visitors arrived, Scouts Clarke and Master were presented with a small gift, which was well filled for some months ago, and which was a great surprise to the boys."

Mr. G. Pratiss and Mr. G. Devin, both our scouts, have kindly consented to sing a solo, and we are looking forward to their singing.

Second Patrol Leader David Wiles
has invited the troop, while Patrol Leader
Bender, and Patrol Leader
Captured a number. Scouts J. Leone and H. Greenhill are in the room, and the Scouts are working hard on the various projects which have been made. Patrol Leader Ralph Atchison

THE FOURTH TROOP

I should like to take up a few lines in the Corner this week in giving the Results of Edmonton an account of a meeting of the Boy Scouts Association of the City of Edmonton.

At the present time, the various units of the Troop are now in full swing, and the boys are hard at work.

Malcolm drove the party consisting of Mrs. Reid, Mr. Reid and myself to the meeting of the Troop, arriving there about 8:15 p.m.

The boys had their traps on parade in the town hall, and the boys were very pleased to see so many parents of the boys present as to make a great deal towards making the boys feel at home.

After the meeting, the parents take the boys to the hall, the Senior class being under the charge of Mr. Brewster, and the beginners are taken care of by Assistant Instructor Mulvey.

With the exception of the Scouts that have been absent for the last three days, it is as well as the education and training of the boys.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Prime Minister
Lloyd George has decided to leave London for Washington November 5
on the Aquitania, arriving in time for the afternoon session of the armaments conference on its opening day,

It is expected A. J. Balfour, of the British delegation, will accompany the prime minister. Mrs. Lloyd George probably will sail with him.

The prime minister's plan is nearly a subject to change if unforeseen circumstances should arise.

Lloyd George expects to be absent five days, and he will return from the United States.

The Aquitania is due to arrive
in New York the morning of November 11, and in these circumstances it is expected that the opening of the conference will be postponed until the afternoon of that day to admit of the British delegates being present when the sessions begin.

The secretariat of the delegation
and most of the other members of the entourage will leave England next Wednesday.

The Daily Poem

A VAUDEVILLE OF CITY GIRLS
Edward Shenton, in Philadelphia

Clarissa came from Kensington: Her hair was like a yellow flame, And she was neither cold nor proud. And she was neither cold nor proud.

Each night we rode there, knee to knee.

For three months, or a trifle more.

But she was not the girl for me.

For youth is like a weather-vane, That swings to west and back again.

I never found Cordelia's home; Her hair was a broad-brimmed sailor hat.

And I never shirked a march and trim.

We flitted from town to town with her; Love.

From happy lunching on "two-bit" tables.

But I was not the girl for her.

We partake company at the Rita.

For youth is like a weather-vane, That swings to east and back again.

I never found Cordelia's home; Her hair was a broad-brimmed sailor hat.

And I never shirked a march and trim.

We flitted from town to town with her; Love.

From happy lunching on "two-bit" tables.

But I was not the girl for her.

We partake company at the Rita.

For youth is like a weather-vane, That swings to east and back again.

I never found Cordelia's home; Her hair was a broad-brimmed sailor hat.

And I never shirked a march and trim.

We flitted from town to town with her; Love.

The Utilities Turn the Corner

Apparently the civic utilities taken together, have been got definitely upon a paying basis, with a prospect that continued good management can make them do even better. The cost of services for the future, if it can be even caused to produce a larger margin of income over outgo, will be the same as the cost of the nine months ending September 30, 1921, when the group turned in a net profit of $148,000. For the corresponding period last year, they recorded a net loss of $122,000.

The betterment is $270,000 for a much longer period, or at the rate of $300,000 per year.

That is a change in the course of things which must be highly gratifying to the taxpayers of the city, to the citizens of the city, and all who have had to do with the direction and operation of the enterprises. To have effected an improvement in their financial position amounting to more than $600,000 per year is a great achievement. It is proof positive that the utilities are being well managed. It removes them from the suspicion of being bad investments, gives them the undying confidence of solid and profitable securities.

It relieves the credit of the city of the dead weight created by continuous and accumulating deficits. And it butts up the nose of the man who is not satisfied, the $148,000 profit is being turned into the general funds of the city and will cut down the amount demanded from the tax payers by that sum.

It is a fact that the city had it demonstrated that the utilities can be made to pay, and to pay well. Hitherto the electric light, waterworks and telephone systems had been unable to make a contribution to the good, but the street rail way lost so heavily as to eat up that gain and leave the group farther in the hole at the end of the year. The result of the last nine months shows that it is not necessary to operate these enterprises at a loss, or to run them with less compensation returning to the tax payers, whose return was mortgaged to provide the capital investment. What can be done once can be repeated, and that can be done in a time of business depression, when the market is slackened, should be possible.

Hereafter if the utilities do not do in any year show a substantial profit on the right side of the account, the taxpayers will be entitled to know why.

The outcome for this period shows also that it makes a difference how the utilities are run, and a difference which worth considering. True there are more people in the city than there were last year, but they are not spending money so freely even for car fare as they spent in the first nine months of last year, and while rates have been raised they have not been raised sufficiently to account for the difference in the number of users of the utilities. The net amount in the ninth month period this year took in $270,000 more than during the corresponding period last year. That is equivalent to the betterment shown in the financial position.

The added cost to which the city was put to supply the extra service has been offset by economy in operation, and the elimination of waste. When the system was practised, the additional revenue was all gain, and goes to the reduction of the tax bills.

It is apparent that even the street rail way is paying its way at present, almost equal to that by the end of the year it too may have demonstrated that it can

FARMER VS. LABOR.

The decision that there is to be no alliance between the political parties of farmer and labor in the three Edmonton constituencies is easily understood. The two political parties are practically identical with the economic organizations bearing the same names. As citizens of a common country there is no reason why farmer and labor economic groups should not act together politically; but the decision is to be made, and with failing political powers must stand aloof from the fray. He is rather a patriotic figure in the cause of his country.

Why Not the Bosses?

H. H. Dewart has quit the leadership of the Ontario Liberal party, succeeded probably by a Tory as his successor. Why not Bill and Dan? If Ontario Liberals could be foolish enough to let themselves be mixed up with the "corporation committee," why not the crowd they might just as well put the twin wizards at the head of the procession for all the difference it would make in the party's destination.
